May at Soho Photo Gallery: New Season, New Events, New Work

Contact: Lynn Passy, info@sohophoto.com, 212.226.8571

Opening Reception: Tuesday, May 6, 2014, from 6pm to 8pm. Everyone is welcome.

May at Soho Photo Gallery is bursting with new events and work, ranging from Allen Bryan's startling views of the "Comforts of Home" to the gallery's first-ever Affordable Photography Fair, TOAST weekend—May 9-12. Among the two new events and five exhibits are multiple works that freeze the whirlwind of life and capture the mystery of Asian landscapes, and a juried workshop show created by a unique collaboration between the gallery and B&H Photo.

Susan Bowen
People Walking

"My work is always about motion; these images are part of an ongoing series on the topic of People Walking. Shot at various busy street corners in New York City, I like to record the swirl of activity around me. The vantage point is low; I am often sitting on the ground with a small tripod and rapidly capturing people as they walk by."

Alen Bryan
Comforts of Home

"The Comforts of Home series invites us into precarious places and unsettling living situations. Exteriors intrude into interiors through windows and doors left carelessly ajar. People are ghostly blurs or fragmented presences. The minute details of objects in these spaces give a glimpse into the past and present. These are figments of a world that isn't as real as it looks at first glance and that question a comfortable reality."

Joan Lebold Cohen
Stairway to Paradise

"When I studied traditional Chinese paintings, I found the mountains and mists so unfamiliar that I assumed the artists imagined the subjects. Yet I knew that artists usually paint what they see. I sought out those places and was able to find the landscape they have immortalized. After more than forty years of photographing in Asia, I finally traveled to the remote rice terraces in southern China's Guizhou province. There I found the lush green mountains with finely carved terraces filled with water reflecting a brilliant sky."

Dream Chasers

"I have been thinking about new ways to create pauses and silences where breath is held in my artistic world that has always been inspired by movement. In this series of natural images, untouched by any manipulation, I create the sensation of a double dimension by superimposing images on fabric and paper, creating the essence of the dream."

Burma: A Strange and Subtle Secret

"In my new photographic project, I explore the beauty of Burma through its people, and one spectacular cow. This work covers much of the country and its indigenous people, including tribes from the remote Brown Zone. Ordinarily my personal work is shot on film using medium or large format to achieve the desired look. In this project, all the images are digital capture output to black & white."

B&H Workshop:

Juried Exhibition

This past October, the B&H Event Space partnered with Soho Photo Gallery to launch a grand experiment in photographic training: B&H's new Portfolio Development Series offered participants a five-month curriculum of free classes and the opportunity to show qualifying work at the gallery. They attended critiques, kept generating new work and posting it to social media, built a website, and finally printed a mini-portfolio to be submitted to Soho Photo Gallery for a juried show. The selected photographs represents some exciting approaches to photography.

Affordable Photography Fair

Soho Photo Gallery's first-ever Affordable Photography Fair launches in the gallery this month on TOAST weekend, May 9-12. The concept is simple—a place where art lovers can find dozens of photographs from New York City photographers, each priced at $100.

About Soho Photo Gallery:

Soho Photo Gallery was founded in 1971 by a group of New York Times photographers who wanted to create a venue for photography as fine art. We are a 501 (c)(3) non-profit arts organization operated by our member photographers.
